

Mont. Mont.
~~from~~ Feb. 1st 1839.

Sir,

Your letter of the 23d ult., and your remittance of ~~some~~ resumed prices for the annual assay, were both received this morning. The prices consisted of 41 dimes and 7 half dimes, and their value is $ 4.45. // This amount you will please to consider as transmitted to me from your ordinary fund, for contingent expenses incurred here, and I shall credit your account accordingly. The deficit thus caused in your bullion account, you will supply, of course, from the ordinary fund in your hands.

The same course will be pursued as to the assay prices, and we will take an early opportunity of letting you know the amount.
